Statement of Artist's Participation with Printing of Edition

A preliminary proof was submitted to the artist by the atelier for each color used in the original painting. The artist changed color or form of proof when the artist deemed these changes appropriate. The artist approved proof only when changes implemented by the atelier met all of artist's requirements. After the artist's approval was given, the edition was then printed by the atelier. The artist inspected the edition after it was printed and signed each individual print after final approval.
